Photosynthesis and Cellular Respiration in C3 Plants

Chloroplasts absorb photons primarily in the blue and red wavelengths of light.

The Calvin-Benson cycle fixes carbon dioxide into glyceraldehyde 3-phosphate.

RuBisCO catalyzes the initial carboxylase reaction during the light-independent stage.

This document discusses plant physiology and photosynthetic electron transport chains exclusively.